

REVERENCE GETTER

Written by Publisher

REVERENCE GETTER - "When our primary is getting a little talkative, and disruptive I stop my lesson or activity and whisper very quietly "If you can hear me touch your nose, If you can hear me tug your ear, etc." I do the action too to help them focus. It never fails to bring them all back into focus. I always end with "If you can hear me, fold your arms" that way we are all ready to be reverent together." JANA HOPPE, FLORIDA