

LOTS OF IDEAS:

Written by Publisher

LOTS OF IDEAS:

- Songs: "Do as I'm Doing", "My Hands upon My Head I Place", "Hinges", "I Have Two Little Hands", any others you know well.
- Fill-In-the-blanks (to guess a word in a lesson).
- Pantomime (of a character or an event in a lesson)
- An open-end story that the children finish
- Finger-plays
- Role-play
- Finger puppets
- Ball or bean bag (Ask a question and throw the ball or bean bag to a child; he answers and throws back to you or asks a question and throws to another child.)
- Testimony-bearing
- Scripture chase
- Turning classroom lights on and off
- Greeting individuals by name
- Complimenting those who are ready to begin
- Chalkboard: Drawing stick figures for a story in the lesson, Writing key words phrases or questions
- Standing and waiting quietly, using eye-to-eye contact with an offending child
- Gently touching a child
- Changing tone of voice
- Establishing a sign that means "Everyone please be reverent," such as a picture of quiet child
- Having one child shut his eyes while the teacher asks a question and points to a child to answer it and has the child with his eyes shut try to guess who is talking
- True/false quiz
- Placing under children's chairs some key words pertaining to the lesson
- Having children shut their eyes and pretend or imagine some point in the lesson