PARENTAL INVOLVEMENT - "Our daughter recently advanced from primary. When she was working on her Gospel in Action award a couple of years ago we made it a big deal at home. We would sit down with her to help her choose her goals and we would do some of them along with her. For instance, when she was working on writing in her journal, we purchased a nice, inexpensive book for her to write in and we would write in our journal that we have set up on the computer. Making it a family experience instead of leaving the entire process up to her made it more special when she finally reached her goal."
